A LETTER FOR YOU

hey mohammadsarik,

It has been so inspiring to watch your evolution from a student at VNSGU to finding your footing in the professional tech world. Seeing you embrace those first new beginnings at Gi1 with such genuine excitement really set the tone for your year. You have a natural way of showing gratitude to your mentors while staying laser-focused on your own growth, which is a rare balance to find.

Your transitions into roles at Tech Savvy Solution show a clear pattern of someone who is truly hungry to build and create. It is clear you do not just want to write code; you want to bring creative solutions to life and enhance your skills in real-world environments. That kind of drive is exactly what makes a developer stand out in this industry.

What really stands out is how you did not stop at web development. Diving into Generative AI and mastering LLMs shows you are always looking at the horizon. You have gone from being fascinated by potential to actually building with it. You are crafting a future that is uniquely yours and I cannot wait to see where this path takes you next.

With warmth and admiration,
ashvin, lizzie, rashad, faw, sofea AND cleve
